As you choose your courses, consider these three recommended components:

1. Strong Recommendations

Three areas of study are strongly recommended (consider taking ★3 or more from each of the following):

Canadian literature and culture
Indigenous literature and culture
Pre-1900 literature and culture

2. Breadth Recommendations

We suggest that your Major cover the breadth of areas within English Studies and encourage you to take at least one course in each of the following areas (see website for course listings):

Genres and Media Forms
Literary Periods
National and Global Literature
Social and Cultural Diversity
Theoretical Approaches

3. Follow your interests

Which of these areas interest you most? Check out our website for courses in these and other areas of interest:

Contemporary - 21 st Century
Creative Writing
Gender and Sexuality
Global Issues
Social Justice and Literature
Media Studies and Print Culture
Popular Genres
Going to Graduate School

NOTES:

1. Students taking English as a major and Creative Writing as a minor cannot count WRITE courses toward requirements for the major. WRITE and approved cross-listed courses apply as ENGL courses for students taking English as a major and a subject other than Creative Writing as a minor; however no more than ★15 of WRITE courses may be used to fulfill program requirements.

2. * Effective September 2019: Students who entered the program before September 2019 will be allowed to graduate with ★6 credits. All students entering the program after September 2019 will need ★9 at the 200-level.
