Course Description and Objectives:

This course will provide students with a general introduction to the cultural contexts of Mexico, Central America and the Caribbean. Through a number of units of study, organized around specific social/cultural moments in Latin American and Caribbean history, the course will explore both high intellectual versions of cultural history as well as more popular genres (popular music, cinema, oral traditions, and folklore) that shape Latin American and Caribbean identities. This course counts toward the Certificate in International Learning (CIL).

LEARNING OUTCOMES:

At the end of this course, successful students should be able to:

- 1) Cite major moments in the development of social and cultural history of Mexico, Central America, and the Caribbean from Pre-Columbian times to the contemporary period.
- 2) Identify leading intellectual, artistic, and political figures and movements that made significant contributions to society and culture in the region.
- 3) Discuss major trends in the development of politics, culture, and society in the region, including recurring patterns and breakthroughs in those patterns that have contributed to identity formation.
- 4) On the basis of the material discussed in class, develop an individual critical position on an important issue in Latin American Studies, and present a coherent argument in writing to defend such a position.

Explanatory Notes on Assignments:

Class attendance is important and participation will count for 20% of the term work. It is to the benefit of the student to attend class regularly and be prepared to contribute to the class discussion, make comments, and ask questions. This will make the learning experience more enjoyable for all of us. Throughout the semester there will be in-class assignments, group work, and discussions to complement the professor's lectures. Five unannounced quizzes testing the reading material will be given throughout the semester for a total of 10% of the participation grade. No make-ups will be available for these quizzes, but students will have the option of dropping the lowest quiz grade, and grades of other quizzes will be weighted accordingly.

Outlines of class lectures and questions on readings and films will be posted on eClass ahead of time. Students are urged to check the website in preparation for each class lecture, reading, and film. Students are responsible for doing the assigned reading and/or viewing the assigned film in advance and attend class prepared for discussion.

Each student will have to hand in a final term paper to show how the student grapples with the material discussed in class, and his/her ability to take a critical position on an important issue in Latin American Studies. The final paper topic must be approved in writing by the instructor through submission of an abstract by the student at a date TBA. The essay will be a maximum of six typed pages, as well as contain bibliography and notes in correct format (Consult the Chicago Manual of Style or MLA Handbook for acceptable formats.) The due date for the paper will be the last day of class (December 7, 2016). Essays not handed in on this day will lose 1% per day.

There will be one midterm and one final exam in the course, testing the student's comprehension and grasp of the material as well as the student's ability to take that knowledge and apply it in a discussion of certain related topics. (See dates above.)

If you have any questions and/or problems regarding the course, I am available during my office hours or by appointment.

Required Notes:

"Policy about course outlines can be found in the Evaluation Procedures and Grading System of the University Calendar."

Academic Integrity:

"The University of Alberta is committed to the highest standards of academic integrity and honesty. Students are expected to be familiar with these standards regarding academic honesty and to uphold the policies of the University in this respect. Students are particularly urged to familiarize themselves with the provisions of the Code of Student Behaviour (online at http://www.governance.ualberta.ca/en/CodesofConductandResidenceCommunityStandards/CodesofStudentBehaviour.aspx) and avoid any behaviour that could potentially result in suspicions of cheating, plagiarism, misrepresentation of facts and/or participation in an offence. Academic dishonesty is a serious offence and can result in suspension or expulsion from the University."

Learning and Working Environment:

The Faculty of Arts is committed to ensuring all students; faculty and staff are able to study and work in an environment that is safe and free from discrimination and harassment. It does not tolerate behaviour that undermines that environment. The Department urges anyone who feels that this policy has been or is being violated to:

- Discuss the matter with the person whose behaviour is causing concern; or
- If that discussion is unsatisfactory, or there is concern that directs discussion is inappropriate or threatening, discuss it with the Chair of the Department. For additional advice or assistance regarding this policy you may contact the Office of the Student Ombuds. Information about the University of Alberta Discrimination and Harassment Policy and Procedures is described in UAPPOL.

Academic Honesty:

All students should consult the information provided by the Office of Judicial Affairs regarding avoiding cheating and plagiarism in particular and academic dishonesty in general (see the Academic Integrity Undergraduate Handbook and Information for Students). If in doubt about what is permitted in this class, ask the instructor.

Students involved in language courses and translation courses should be aware that on-line "translation engines" produce very dubious and unreliable "translations." Students in languages courses should be aware that, while seeking the advice of native or expert speakers is often helpful, excessive editorial and creative help in assignments is considered a form of "cheating" that violates the code of student conduct with dire consequences.

An instructor or coordinator who is convinced that a student has handed in work that he or she could not possibly reproduce without outside assistance is obliged, out of consideration of fairness to other students, to report the case to the Associate Dean of the Faculty. See the Academic Discipline Process.

Recording of Lectures:

Audio or video recording of lectures, labs, seminars or any other teaching environment by students is allowed only with the prior written consent of the content author(s) or as a part of an approved accommodation plan. Recorded material is to be used solely for personal study, and is not to be used or distributed for any other purpose without prior written consent from the content author(s).

Attendance, Absences, and Missed Grade Components:

Regular attendance is essential for optimal performance in any course. In cases of potentially excusable absences due to illness or domestic affliction, notify your instructor by e-mail within two days. Regarding absences that may be excusable and procedures for addressing course components missed as a result, consult sections Attendance and Examinations of the University Calendar Be aware that unexcused absences will result in partial or total loss of the grade for the "attendance and participation" component(s) of a course, as well as for any assignments that are not handed-in or completed as a result.

In this course, attendance and participation will count for 20% of the grade. Please see "Grade Distribution" and "Explanatory Notes on Assignments" above.

Policy for Late Assignments:

Students who consult in advance with an instructor regarding contingencies preventing the timely completion of an assignment may, at the discretion of the instructor, be granted an extension. Otherwise, assignments may be handed in one class-day after the stated deadline without penalty, with a 1%-per-class-day penalty assessed for each subsequent class-day of lateness.

Student Accessibility Services:

If you have special needs that could affect your performance in this class, please let me know during the first week of the term so that appropriate arrangements can be made. If you are not already registered with Student Accessibility Services, contact their office immediately (1-80 SUB; Email sasrec@ualberta.ca; Email; phone 780-492-3381).

Grading:

Assessment of the individual course components may be in the form of numerical marks or letter grades. The final letter grade will be based on "a combination of absolute achievement and relative performance in a class" (University Calendar, Evaluation Procedures and Grading System). The University Grading Procedure mandates that "a student's level of achievement of the goals/outcomes of a course, their grade, and the descriptor of that grade must be aligned" (https://policiesonline.ualberta.ca/). The following guidelines have been adopted by the Department of Modern Languages and Cultural Studies:
