

HEALTH ETHICS SYMPOSIUM

Disability Ethics:

Within and Beyond a Canadian Context

Thursday, 21 November 2024

Time: 1:00 - 4:30 PM MST

Virtual presentations via Zoom application

Pre-Registration Required

FREE! Everyone WELCOME!

CLICK TO REGISTER

Disability ethics is an interdisciplinary approach to health ethics that forefronts the perspectives and experiences of individuals living with disabilities. As such, disability ethics is a crucial topic for contemporary health ethics. The purpose of this symposium is to bring together individuals from a variety of disciplines to explore contemporary ethical issues within and beyond a Canadian context through a disability ethics lens.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER:

Joel Michael Reynolds, PhD

Associate Professor
Philosophy & Disability Studies
Georgetown University;
Senior Research Scholar
Kennedy Institute of Ethics

PANEL DISCUSSIONS WITH:

- Chloë G. K. Atkins, PhD, University of Toronto
- C. Dalrymple-Fraser, PhD, University of Toronto
- Isabel Grant, LL.M, FRSC, University of British Columbia
- Nancy Hansen, PhD, University of Manitoba
- Heidi Janz, PhD, University of Alberta
- Marghalara Rashid, PhD, University of Alberta
- Sebastian Straube, PhD, University of Alberta
- Michael van Manen, MD, PhD, University of Alberta
- Gregor Wolbring, PhD, University of Calgary

For symposium updates, please check:
John Dossetor Health Ethics Centre website
Email: dossetor.centre@ualberta.ca
Phone: (780) 492-6676

UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA

Alberta Health
Services

University
Hospital
Foundation