SJC Residence SOLD OUT for Fall 2024!

SJC is excited to announce that BOTH of our residences are officially full for Fall 2024. Both waitlists are also overflowing! Contact sjgres@ualberta.ca if you are interested in joining future waitlists or finding out more about applying for future terms.

Medieval Philosophers

Last week St. Joseph's College hosted the first-ever Edmonton Symposium on Medieval Philosophy, gathering Edmonton-based experts on the subject. The Symposium was organized by SJC's VP (Academics), Dr. Matt Kostelecky, and Newman Theological College's Dean, Dr. Pablo Irizar. Given the success of the event, we look forward to future collaborations and discussions!

Alumni Gathering in Calgary

Attention Calgary Alumni & Friends of SJC: Save the date for Friday night, May 31 at 5pm at the James Joyce Irish Pub on 8th Avenue downtown! Dan Terra (SJC resident in the mid 90's) and his band will be playing there live, and SJC will be there to join in the fun. Get there at 5pm for the SJC swag, info, and storytelling, and then stay for the music at 6pm! Free, but please RSVP to sjcdev@ualberta.ca so we can get you on the "I'm with the band" guest list!

SJC Commencement

Last month, SJC celebrated our Commencement for the third consecutive year!! After the donor/award winner breakfast, bagpipe music led our faculty into the chapel for our Commencement exercises, which was then followed up with a lunch reception sponsored by Troubled Monk Brewery. Congrats to all of our amazing students!

SJC Award Winner Breakfast

Last month some of our students joined donors and representatives for a tasty brunch in the SJC Dining Hall, prior to Commencement. This event brought together the winning students with those whose gifts allowed for the awards to be created! Are you interested in creating a new award? Email our Advancement Office for more information!
